

BRIGHTON MEDIA CENTRE – 18TH BIRTHDAY CELEBRATIONS

Founded in 1992 by Ian Elwick, following on soon after the development of the World Wide Web in 1991, Brighton Media Centre is still at the leading edge of providing the means to Live the Dream – the Dream of being able to make connections with other people in real time, anywhere on the Planet! And in addition, to work at something you love to do, almost whatever that is, and make your living doing that – the restrictions and institutions of the past are being replaced by light-footed, adaptable and therefore sustainable co-operating groups of innovating individuals, providing services and products tailored to the ever-moving current conditions.

So we now live in Marshall McLuhan's "Global Village", our domestic and business landscape changed totally from what went before nothing is constant except change. The people with real knowledge and creative innovation skills are the ones leading our human society forward now, and at BMC we are providing the physical structure from which that can best be delivered.

Having been in this amazing stream of progress more or less since the beginning, the Team at Brighton Media Centre is delighted to be celebrating our own "Coming of Age" 18 years on. To make the most of it, there are several special Events arranged throughout August, some specifically for our own clients to share in like the tasting of local Sussex cheeses, some for the wider community with which we are connected such as the "Brighton Now" photo competition. Please feel free to check out the details on our website – www.mediacentre.org – and come along to those that appeal. There is something for everyone, we reckon!
